Cap-a-Pie.

A knight came striding adown the way,
His step was light and his mien was gay;
And a storm on-rushed as he pressed along,
But parted and waned at his ringing

And a dragon reared in the path shead, Bidding him slacken his buoyant tread; But straight he pushed for the grim de file, And its bugbear shrank from his daunt

And a chasm opened, so dark and wide He might see to the farther side; But lo, he knelt at the edge and prayed. And there a bridge for his feet was laid.

He onward passed, for the goal afar; Behind him, doubt; and before, his etar; Master of fate, to do and dare, Armed with a song, a smile, a pray'r. —Edwin L. Sabin, in The New Idea.

D. A. R. Jamestown Memorial.

Mrs. B. I. Purcell, regent of the Commonwealth Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, has been notified by official report, that the Continental Congress to whom the report of the D. A. B. Jamestown Committee, meeting in Alchmond, April 16th, was made, has decided to erect a memorial building at Jamestown Island, to the east of the ohurch yard and overlooking the river.

The plans of the building have not yet been decided upon, but as there is another meeting of the National D. A. R. board, Mrs. Purcell, who is to leave for Boston in a few days, expects to be present at that meeting and join in the discussion regarding the style of architecture for the building, on which work will be begun next fall.

The building will be completed for its opening in 1907, and will serve as, headquarters for the Daughters of the Revolution and their friends at the gelebration of the three hundredth aninversary of Virginia's, first capital. It will have, beside its assembly hall, a number of reception rooms, bed rooms and a hall for the collection and preservation of Jamestown and colonial relies.

Its erection will be a matter of great pride and interest, not only for the Commonwealth and other Virginia, chapters of the organization directly concepted, but for all women belonging to particle and historio socioties throughout the United States. Mrs. Purcell, who has expended time, thought and energy in directing the attention of the national body to Jamestown, is deeply gratified at the success of her hopes, as she has every right to be.

Jamestown Excursion.

Jamestown Excursion.

Jamestown Excursion.

The Excursion Committee is now endeavoring to make arrangements for a visit to "Brandon" on the return up the river. Some time ago Mrs. Harrison extended an invitation to the association, but it has been uncertain whether time would admit of a stop at that beautiful colonial home. It is hoped now, however, that it may be arranged.

The sale of tickets which have been placed at the Virginia Historical Society has continued to be active, and there is every evidence, that a large crowd will go on the trip. Whether one only makes a day's restful outing on the river, or desires to see the colonial homes, or places on the river noted in war history, or wishes to examine carefully the birthplace of the nation, this, the only excursion of the summer, alike makes a strong appeal.

Miss Betty Cilyson, whose skill is well known, will have charge of the refreshments.

The remembered A. P. V. A. guide book, "Notes on a Journey to Jamestown," has been enlarged by a new chapter, embodying the results of the latest investigations at Jamestown and telling the best way to see the "ancient citty." Only a very small edition of the booklet has been printed, and it is now for sale at the Virginia Historical Society.

POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

Whatever your occupation may be, and however crowded your hours with affairs, do not fall to secure at least a few minutes every day for refreshment of your inner life with a bit of poetry.—Professor Charles Eliot Norton.

PLANT A TREE.

This poem is attributed to Lucy Larcom. It is not in her complete poems published by Houghton & Mirflin.

"When we plant a tree," says Oliver Wendell Holmes, "we are deing what we can to make our planet a more wholesome and happier dwelling place for those who come after us, if not for ourselves. * * I have written many verses, but the best poems I have produced are the trees I planted on the hillside. * * Nature finds rhyms for them in the recurring measures of the seasons, winter strips them of their craments and gives them, as it were in prose translation, and summer reclothes them in all the splendid phrases of their leafy language."

E who plants a tree plants a hope. Rootlets up through fibres blindly grope, Leaves unfold into horizons free. So man's life must climb From the clods of time Unto heavens sublime. Canst thou prophesy, thou little tree, What the glory of thy boughs shall be?

He who plants a tree Plants a loy: Plants a comfort that will never cloy, Every day a fresh reality; Beautiful and strong, To whose shelter throng Creatures blithe with song. If thou couldst but know, thou happy tree,

Of the bliss that shall inhabit thee!

He who plants a tree He plants peace Under its green curtains jargons cease, Leaf and zephyr murmur soothingly; Shadows soft with sleep Down tired eyelids creep, Balm of slumber deep. Never hast thou dreamed, thou blessed tree, Of the benediction thou shalt be.

He who plants a tree He plants youth; Vigor won for centuries, in sooth; Life of time, that hints eternity! Boughs their strength uprear. New shoots every year On old growths appear. Thou shall teach the ages, sturdy tree, Youth of soul is immortality.

He who plants a tree He plants love; Tents of coolness spreading out above Wayfarers he may not live to see. Gifts that grow are best: Hands that bless are blest; Plant-life does the rest! Heaven and earth help him who plants a tree, And his work its own reward shall be-

SPRING TERM OF THE FEDERAL COURT

Session Closed Yesterday-Tribunal Convenes in Asheville.

The spring term of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in this city was concluded yesterday, and that tri-Circuit Court of Appeals in this city was concluded yesterday, and that tribunal adjourned to meet May 24th at Asheville, N. C., where a sitting of ten days or two weeks will be had before final adjournment. It is expected that several opinions will be handed down when the court reconvenes next week. The term here has been a busy one, devoted to the argument of cases on the decket. At the Asheville term cases from the jurisdictions of North Carolina. South Carolina and the Western District of Virginia will be argued, that point being more casy of access to litigants and attorneys than Richmond. Judge Prichard, one of the members of the court, resides there, and besides all these considerations the stimmer climate of the western Carolina city makes it especially desirable for a summer term.

Before the court convenes again in this city it is hoped that the Federal building will be so rearranged that hereafter all the terms will be held here. At present the meagre facilities for the confort and work of the court officials in this city makes it desirable that some other place shall be chosen.

Only one case was argued yesterday. Circuit Judges Morris sitting. That was No. 600, Grank K. Guk and others, appellants, vs. John A. Donald, appellee, from the District Court at Norfolk, Va. This was argued by ex-Judge D. Tucker Brooke and Captain R. C. Marshall, for the appellants, and by Mr. Robert M. Hughes, for the appellee, and submitted.
